

Kate Arnold is an artist currently living in the historic former capital city of England, Winchester. She is a commercial and private artist that has produced works for global corporations as well as private collectors. Her work ranges across fine art, illustration, textile design, metal casting and wood sculpting.

Her latest project, an eight meter totem, depicting the wildlife found throughout the area, has recently been installed at Moors Valley Country Park.

Please contact Kate for more details of her past and future projects.
